

Be thankful
for your hangover.

Some people never get that far.

It's not just a little thing. When you've had a lot to drink your driving capabilities are impaired. Which makes you dangerous behind the wheel. To yourself. And anyone who happens to get in your way. And if you don't believe that, who exactly do you think was responsible for nearly half the traffic deaths in Canada last year?

Enjoy yourself.

But if you're drinking make sure you're not driving.

Your head may not thank you.

But you will have our eternal gratitude.
